Dear Brittany: Thanks for the update. Let us know what time it is scheduled even if it is early. I am an early bird.

Good morning-

I just heard back from USDA and the scheduling of this meeting has proven to be difficult. They only have availability during the mornings for next week, which of course would not work for you all. We have been contacted by Earthjustice earlier this week regarding the status of the complaint review, so I think we need to have this meeting asap.

I can schedule a time with you all after the meeting to provide you with a debrief on what was agreed upon with USDA. Does that work for you all or do you have some concerns?
